

Noise Barriers Appoints James Thomas to Mid-West Territory Sales Manager

Lake Forest, IL – May 20th, 2021

Noise Barriers, a prominent brand of metal noise control products serving the industrial and architectural markets, is pleased to announce the promotion of James Thomas to Mid-West Territory Sales Manager. In his new role, James will be responsible for managing sales of the Noise Barriers portfolio of products as well as supporting their highly regarded channel partners in the Mid-West region of the United States.

James has over 5 years of experience in the noise control market. He joined Noise Barriers in 2016 as Product Business Manager. In this critical role, he was responsible for the execution of project management and engineering. This included delivering on best-in-class customer service through accuracy of project specifications and timely performance in meeting critical deadlines and delivery dates.

“We are eager to support this natural transition for James in his continued growth with Noise Barriers”, said John Finnegan, Director of Noise Barriers. “With his vast background in project and engineering management, coupled with his intimate understanding of customer expectations, he is perfectly suited for outside sales.”
